The Quiet Mind Disturbances

Many of us doesn't realize about the global infiltrations to all nations governments, done by underground movement, into our societies, by their decades of quiet efforts. They spreading hates through children youtube posts, facebook posts that looks like random but was craftly pun and intended, or the rhythm of ballads, humming the song about anarchy movement, that spreading fear and hate that makes their way of destruction seep in to our daily living.

The lyrics on chorus on the song continually played and becoming largely accepted by the societies, and the lyrics itself said about the end of structures, the fall of peace. Their way of spreading hates done in sweet rhytms but the words has dangerous meaning that breaking all the society norms upside down.

And now the religious societies have been largely affected by the quiet violence that has spreading. The religious believers now cries for the deadly subtle changes that has happened around them, but they dont even know where to asks for helps. But in the effort of maintaining peace, we have to talk about the quiet disturbance that has happened that been scaring our children for years, and has been affecting our life more than decades.

MIND INFILTRATIONS

Why They Targeting The Intellectuals?

Starting from the loss of consciousness, many destructive movements know that to change a social order, they must destroy its best people. The destruction begins with the mask of an angel. Until the intellectuals do not realize that what they are studying is not something good and beneficial. But a very dangerous social poison. Which changes their way of thinking, which changes the principles of life and purity, turning everything upside down in the name of lust, as if it were a hidden purity that should have been spread long ago.

The movement began as if it were the beginning of a learning process. They employed a re-education strategy across various groups, concealing their true intentions and goals. They recruited articulate individuals who spoke softly and humorously.

They approached significant figures, especially government officials and political figures. They began under the guise of religion. They then invited them to join a learning circle that held regular weekly meetings.

This initial meeting, introducing the movement, could have begun imperceptibly. It was directed as if it were an accidental encounter. With comedy, jokes, or gentle rebukes, as if to help us out of an extreme situation. In reality, it was a deliberately orchestrated scenario, involving tens to hundreds of people, for just one day, targeting the intended figures.

MIND INFILTRATIONS

Why They Targeting The Intellectuals?

This hidden criminal scheme was actually orchestrated on a large scale, with a crew from various levels of society. It seemed like a normal, everyday occurrence. Yet, in just one meeting on a single day, the infiltration could have been planned for months to penetrate a supposedly impenetrable, multi-layered security perimeter.

On a national, regional, and global scale, they target communication and news institutions. They target systemic structures. They engineer various forms of fraud. They steal using various structured methods. Then, when the situation is uncovered, they gang up to commit a structured crime.

They begin by pretending that what they are doing is simply a learning process. They target naive, loners, people without friends. They also target those seeking God, who are determined to learn the truth.

This extremely evil movement targets innocent students who are unaware of evil and criminality. They transform perfectly good children into weapons to bring down many other good people, starting with their own families.

MIND INFILTRATIONS

Why They Targeting The Intellectuals?

They make them hate their own parents, believing that those outside their own group are not part of the good. They even spread further hatred, believing that anyone outside their group is evil. They claim to be the possessors of absolute truth, the possessors of all holiness. That what they do is the only right thing. And every other else are wrong and evilish.

They brainwashed the community by shifting the framework of national legal truth from absolute enforcement of social values to antisocial values. This transformed a group of innocent children into a hateful group. Made them into a team of psychopathic stealing anarchist, who always freely charted active scheme scenario of fatal destruction every where they go, do, think, went, and intent. Every one are made into be a antisocial amoral zombies.

Their first doctrine was to submit and obey. To anything. To everything. Yet without any clear reason. Without any basis or any facts. Anything said by the group mentor or the societies clergies and societies leaders are has to be listened and obeyed as if it was a word of God. For them, faith is only for those who submit. Those who are intelligent, critical, and protesting are labeled rebellious, problematic, and a source of unrest.

MIND INFILTRATIONS

Why They Targeting The Intellectuals?

The next doctrine is harmony. For them, such dynamics should not arise. Everyone must only comply and maintain a framework of mere pleasure. They claimed to be the guardians of peace and tranquility. In reality, they were merely a covert movement that cared nothing for norms.

Several months of learning meetings, up to the first year, were staged to appear merely as moments of discussion, mentoring, and intellectual study groups.

This was followed by a series of events disguised as training in comfortable accommodations and overnight stays. After ensuring that the trapped individuals had experienced a distortion of understanding, or at least a weakening of their convictions, they were forced to abandon their positions.

Those who are included in the further training process are those whose families have been investigated. Each potential victim is asked to create their own family tree. Each must write down their full name and location of residence, to be submitted to the group's supervisor. The members of the learning group was even asked to handed over the copies of ID's of their parents.

Unbeknownst to them, these records are passed on to higher levels within their area. They can monitor and find out where their members and their families are, what they're doing, who they're with, when, where, and even about what they're wearing. Every place we visits, or what we said in that place, who we met, what we ate, what we do. They can actively reported globally. They then report to the child's school, college, or workplace, a form of misinformation about us, that can hurt our name and reputations.

These innocent students, or employees, who only learn about religion through these small weekly groups, are made into extremely fragile individuals, deeply afraid of all sorts of non-essentials. What is perfectly normal and ordinary is treated as a violation. Even something as common as drinking tea or coffee is considered outside the bounds of their group's rules.

Even eating and drinking are questioned. Imagine this. You're considered a violator of religious law simply for eating or drinking while standing. Not to mention the menu you choose or buy. They can insult you simply because you choose a particular food, simply because of the location or brand. You're immediately declared a violator and will be removed from the group religion.

Why They Targeting The Intellectuals?

For anyone that has yearly being trapped and isolated socially. This is their most intensive fear. Imagine losing everyone in your list of friends, and having them all turn against you, and destroying your life. Only because a simple thing; you are eating a burger at Mac Donalds, or ordering KFC from your online food apps. Yeup. The Targeted intellectuals or Political figures are being actively monitored online. Even at global scale, if you are a global target for them.

Everyone who joins these "study" groups is increasingly terrified by the seemingly mundane things that are actually quite ordinary. For example, eye contacts. They are forced to cut off interaction with their surroundings. It begins with the belief that staring or gazing at someone of the opposite sex is a religious offense. A sin. Yet, in their holy book, there's no such thing at all. Each individual is forced to gradually abandon interaction with anyone outside their group, arguing that only they know the absolute truth.

Everyone is forced to refuse or even look at the opposite sex. It's said this is to maintain the purity of their heart. That a single glance will initiate any interaction deemed potentially dangerous. Moreover, speaking with anyone of the opposite sex outside their group is treated as a heavy mental burden. Yet, for this group, love is forbidden.

Then, they are forced to submit regular worship reports every week detailing their daily activities. This is a target that's almost impossible for normal people with their busy lives. This is compounded by the obligation to be active in numerous committees and political activities.

The pressure to meet these demanding worship and organizational targets paralyzes them from carrying out their primary activities. Even to the point of neglecting school and college or working assignments.

These students, college students, and new employees are then slowly taken to various events outside of school, campus, and their workplaces. They are then deemed to have no one outside their movement. They no longer have friends outside their group.

So, no matter what happens, they will have no one to turn to for help. And because they have already been forced into conflict with their families, their position is further weakened. Families who have been made to hate their own children, who have been brainwashed, can even go so far as to expel them from the home. With great hatred for their own children, these young people are merely victims of a vast criminal movement.

After facing this unfortunate fate, they are under immense psychological pressure from having to comply with stringent rules that don't actually exist within religion. They further burden the participants of these exclusive religious study groups with committee duties and the additional burden of recruiting anyone outside their group to participate in these weekly religious study activities.

In fact, the instructors or mentors of these religious groups are not experts in religious matters or state law. Therefore, in many residential communities, schools, campuses, and offices, it is crucial to enforce these regulations.

Any religious study group mentors and instructors must be registered, educated, and certified by the local government. This includes controlling the theme of each meetings. Any mass group activity outside their home area must be registered, documented, monitored, directed, and lead with and by the area security authorities, the nearest local government authorities, and the local police. This is because these mysterious "group study" activities have been conducted since elementary school.

THE FALLS OF INTELLECTS

The Spread of Hates & Madness

The moral destruction carried out by this movement, whose source has not yet been discovered, has targeted intelligent and good young people.

Those who should be the hope of the nation in which they live have instead turned into living weapons that are dangerous to the environment in which they were born and raised.

These young people who should be the hope of society have instead become blind to laws and norms.

Those who were born into good and religious families have, without realizing it, shifted their moral values to become very corrupt, and have made this corruption a principle in their lives.

They have become disgusted with chastity, they hate good people and those who earn a living through the right means. They force even small children to live in their world that is only based on lust.

They have established a state within a state, appointed their own president and leaders, and driven the people within their movement insane and blind to regulations and laws. In their daily lives, they appear to be pure and devout, while in essence, they deeply hate the sacredness of religion. They spread fear and madness through terrors and persecutions.

They started with the head, of a business, organization, political figures, technocrats. They aim to destroy their sanity and consciousness. Hoping to take control of the whole body of economy and government in generals, in every nations.

Their first motto is "starting with the head". As the head of a fish is the place to aim if we want to kill it.

They even aspire to revive slavery. To make the whole world submit to the rules that they uphold as truth, even though religious rules. Whilst, as we know that all religion has have promised that all people are free and independent, all people are equal before God, and has ended slavery since the last prophet was sent down long ago.
